

Friends or pretend friends

How to stay safe from people who pretend to be your friend

Easy Read Factsheet

People should treat you fairly and kindly.

If anyone treats you badly you must tell someone you trust.

Most friends really are friends.

They care about you and treat you fairly.

Some people might pretend to be your friend and treat you badly.

When someone pretends to be your friend but treats you badly this is a Hate Crime.

Hate Crime is against the law and the Police will help you stop it.

Here are some examples of Hate Crime.

John's friend borrows his mobile phone..

He uses up all the credit and never gives him any money back.

Susan's friend gives her a lift into town..

Town is only 3 miles away.

She charges Susan £30 which is far too much money.

Giuseppe gets paid on a Friday.

His friends come to see him on pay day.

They all go to the pub. His friends get Giuseppe to buy all the drinks.

Helen lives on her own in her flat.

Her friends are always coming round.

They leave the flat messy and eat all of her food. They never bring anything.

Tony's friends always pick on him.

They call him nasty names.

They tell him he has to do what they say otherwise they won't be his friend.

What to do if any of your friends are treating you badly.
